AMERICAN TROOPS smashing the best Jap defenses on one island stepping stone to Tokyo after another, such as shown in this first picture of the invasion of Okinawa, must be giving the Nipponese war lords and industrial tycoons something to think about. Then there are the Russians . . . they have denounced their neutrality treaty with Japan. No wonder the Mikado's resigned. All of which lends itself to the possibility that the Japs may soon be putting out peace feelers in the hope of avoiding further devastation on the home islands.

Meandering Along the Main Stem By WASH FAYETTE

The Carnegie Library's dictionary hunt has brought some more-than-a-century-old volume to light.

Aside from their interest in merely being old, some of the books offer astonishing contrasts in the English language as it was used then and as it is used now.

For instance: The oldest English dictionary—an 1836 edition belonging to Miss Helen Glascock—list no words at all beginning with X. It was explained that the X was used only as a symbol for the figure 10.

In a 1938 dictionary there are three pages of X-words. Most of them are technical or scientific words, however.

Two other antique dictionaries at the library are an 1829 German dictionary and an 1826 French-English dictionary belonging to Clarence Baer.

Forrest Hains, well known resident of the Hains Crossing community north of Bloomingburg, is still using a set of harness that he purchased from Henry C. Shoop some 44 years ago, when the Shoop Harness Shop was located in the south room of what is now the Maddux Restaurant on North Fayette Street.

The harness was made by William Ellison, who was employed in the Shoop shop for many years. Shoop and Ellison were known as expert harness makers, and in the top grade harness only the best material was used.

Forrest said that the harness appeared good for several years of additional service.

21 NAZI WARSHIPS ARE SUNK BY RAIDS

LONDON, April 6.—(AP)—At least 21 German warships and merchant vessels, including a cruiser and eight submarines, were sunk and many others were damaged in the recent RAF and American air attacks on Bremen, Hamburg and Wilhelmshaven, U. S. strategic air force headquarters announced today.

The light cruiser Koeln was listed as sunk in the Wilhelmshaven-Harbor. Seven submarines were sunk in the raids on Hamburg, the communiqué announced.

The raids were carried out by fleets of planes numbering as many as 1,400 heavy bombers.

DEFIANCE OF CURFEW IN TOLEDO IS ENDED

TOLEDO, April 6.—(AP)—Jack O'Connell's one-man war against the national amusement curfew is ended.

The owner of the downtown Loop theater announced last night his movie house henceforth would close at midnight in observance of the curfew—which he had disregarded since March 19.

O'Connell made the announcement following a meeting with officials of the AFL-Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Motion Picture Operators, who previously threatened to call out the Loop's projection machine operators if he persisted in his policy of all-night shows.

Union officials and O'Connell declined further comment.

Showdown Battles For Okinawa Near As Yanks Drive in

Japs on Island Stepping Stone to Tokyo Expected To Make Last Stand in Caves and Gullies—Hong Kong Blasted And Six Ships Sunk—Nip Escape Gap on Luzon Closed

(By the Associated Press)
The main battle for Okinawa appeared today to be shaping up on the southern end of the island where the Japanese were putting up increasing resistance among fixed positions in caves, gullies and ridges four miles north of the capital city of Naha.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz today announced continued American gains on all Okinawa fronts and reported remarkably low U. S. casualties for the first four days of a campaign only 325 miles from Japan: 175 soldiers and Marines killed, 798 wounded.

No figures were given for U. S. naval casualties. Nor were Japanese casualties listed, although they are known to be considerably higher.

On the south end of the American line Maj. Gen. John R. Hodge's 24th Corps Infantrymen ran into stiffer fighting as they moved ahead 3,000 yards.

Field officers said the Japanese commander evidently had pulled the bulk of his garrison—estimated at more than 60,000 troops—into the south end of Okinawa around Naha. The capital airbase is the largest in the Ryukyu chain.

MacArthur and Nimitz To Direct Knockout Blows
WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—General MacArthur had "On to Tokyo" marching orders today, on the heels of Russia's denunciation of her neutrality treaty with Japan.

With the Pacific war thus portending possible startling developments, Allied military leaders were in agreement on the quickest way to end the fighting in Europe: Kill or capture Hitler.

Capitol Hill was quick to speculate that the Moscow decision is a forerunner to Soviet participation in the Pacific conflict once formal Nazi resistance ends.

This was the picture here today: 1. The joint chiefs of staff assigned MacArthur, together with Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, to command the final offensives against Japan.

2. Disclosure that Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, told the Senate military committee that death or capture of Hitler would contribute tremendously to a collapse of the faltering Nazi military machine.

3. General belief among lawmakers that President Roosevelt had extracted from Premier Stalin at the Yalta meeting a promise that the neutrality treaty would be denounced and that Russia would enter the war against Japan.

4. Belief that Russia's action may smooth some of the rough spots out of the path of the United Nations conference at San Francisco April 25.

The joint staff, composed of top uniformed men of the War and Navy departments, decided that turning the full offensive power of the United States on Japan was a job to be directed by two men. Accordingly they announced last night that:

MacArthur will command all

Burning Oil Being Poured On Japs
In Old Pits and Tunnels On Island
By JAMES HUTCHESON
MANILA, April 6.—(AP)—American engineers are burning Japanese from concrete pits and tunnels on Caballo Island by pouring boiling oil on the enemy.

Caballo is Corregidor's barren little brother at the entrance to Manila Bay.

By GLENN BABB
(By The Associated Press)
Admiral Baron Kantaro Suzuki, named to form a new cabinet, may be the front man for a Japanese peace offensive.

With military disasters mounting rapidly to the climax of the Okinawa invasion, it has been apparent for some weeks that the cabinet of General Kuniaki Koiso was doomed.

New Red Threat
Russia's denunciation of her neutrality treaty with Japan is considered one of the final steps preceding Soviet entry into the Pacific war.

The United States, according to State Department officials, was not formally notified of the Moscow action in advance. But the Russian action was foreshadowed in a general awareness that denunciation would be founded on the conclusion that Japan, at war against Russia's allies and on the side of her enemies, no longer could be considered a neutral.

Shift to Moderation
Close students of Japanese affairs have believed the new government would be one of "moderate" or "liberal" guise which the Japanese might hope could gain a hearing for peace tenders to America and her allies.

Suzuki, on the basis of his pre-war record, would fit into that picture. Although an active naval officer for nearly 40 years, he was not identified with the cliques which led Japan into a program of conquest and war against the United States.

He was, in fact, marked as an enemy by those elements. On February 26, 1936, army units of the Tokyo garrison, led by extreme Nationalist young officers, attacked several of Japan's highest leaders whom they called "the emperor's evil counselors"—that is, men who advised Hirohito against aggressive military policies. Suzuki held the post of grand chamberlain, one of the officials nearest the throne. He received sword wounds of such severity that for a time his death was expected.

Suzuki has given no public intimation of sympathy with the army extremists who have dominated the government virtually ever since 1936.

Until the make-up of the Suzuki cabinet is known it may be too early to conclude that the shift presages a peace offensive.

However, if his cabinet includes several of his own kind, elders who were prominent before the Tojo era, the evidence would be strong that a new phase in Japan's war effort had begun, a period of peace gestures and peace propaganda.

Then There Is Russia
Soviet Russia's renunciation of her five-year non-aggression pact with Japan has dealt a terrific blow to the sagging Japanese, who were left today in the position of not knowing precisely what the Russian action means.

The Japanese know, however, that the Russians believe they have a good reason for ending the (Please Turn to Page Two)

WAR SUCCESSES MAY LEAD TO DRAFT SLOW-UP

Restrictions on Use of Boys Under 19 in Combat Are Proposed

WASHINGTON, April 6.—AP—Military and diplomatic successes started talk in Congress today of restrictions on use of youths under 19 for combat and abandonment of nurse-draft legislation.

Optimistic Senator Johnson (D., Colo.), said it is not outside the realm of possibility that the whole Selective Service Act may be allowed to expire May 15.

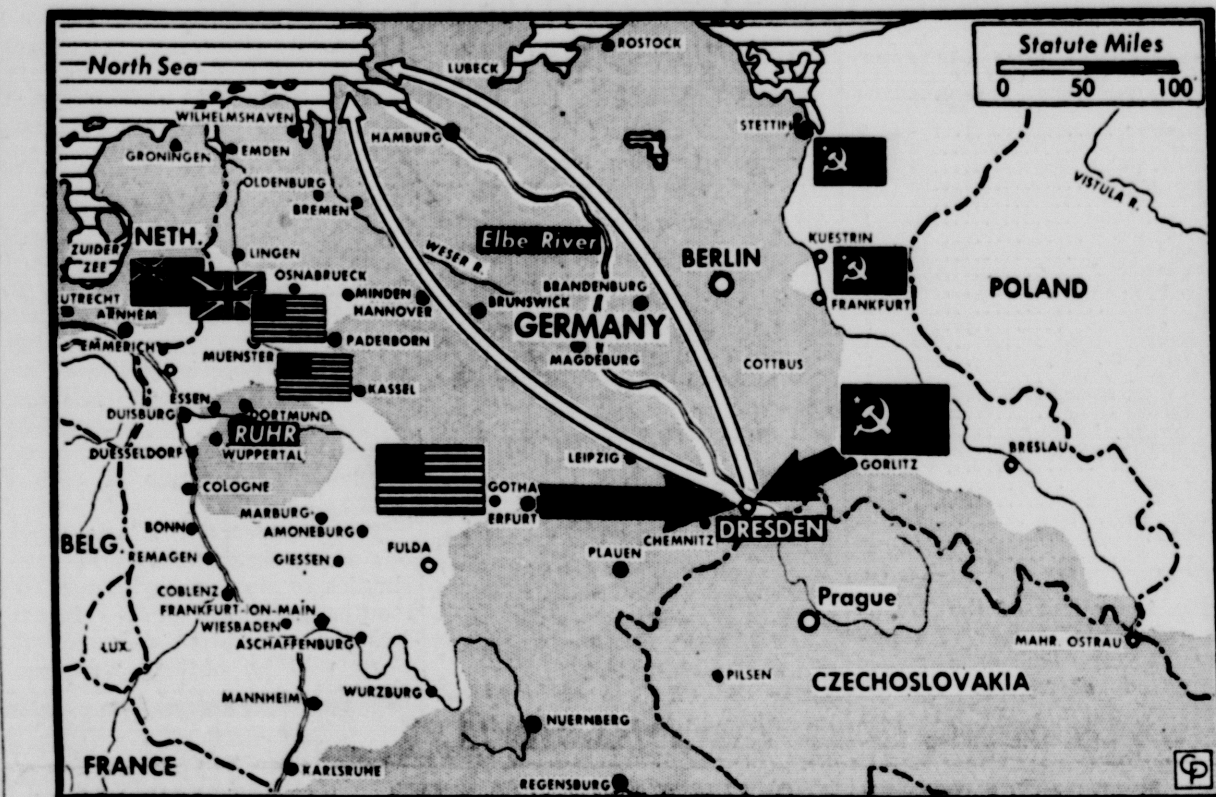

On the other hand, Senator Hill (D., Ala.), told reporters "we can not afford to relax our efforts for either the Selective Service Act extension or the induction of vital-needed nurses at any point short of peace on both the European and Pacific fronts."

The administration has held up action on House-approved legislation extending the Selective Service Act one year pending a final vote on the U. S.-Mexico water treaty on which debate may continue another two weeks.

Hill said he planned to call up the Nurse Draft bill, recently passed by the House, immediately after action on the Selective Service measure.

Senator Johnson, who joined with Senators Stewart (D., Tenn.), Revercomb (R., W. Va.) and Wilson (R., Iowa) in an amendment to prohibit sending any youth under 19 into combat unless he has had six months' training, told reporters:

"Certainly the successes against Europe and the prospects of Russia's entrance into the war (Please Turn To Page Six)

DIRECTION of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's tank drive toward the eastern front indicates to observers in Washington that a juncture will be made with the Red Army in the vicinity of Dresden, on the Elbe river. The Red Army, which is poised at Goritz, barely 55 miles east of Dresden, is ready for another all-out blow, according to Moscow. Possibly under an understanding already made, this force will time its movements to reach the Elbe simultaneously with Patton's group. The Elbe, which flows into the North sea to constitute the port of Hamburg, would create a natural dividing line between the American and Red forces, and together they could work northward to clear out the Nazis in north Germany with a valuable demarcation between their territories. ## After Germans Beaten, What? Most of Equipment Used in Europe To Be Sent To Pacific

By ELTON C. FAY AND JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—The Army hopes to bring out of Europe 70 per cent of the equipment left over after the defeat of Germany. The other 30 per cent—more—either will be written off as not worth saving or as material needed in postwar Europe.

In letting the 70 per cent salvage figure be known, officials explain it is simply a planning objective subject to change. But it does furnish the starting point for estimating long-range war production at home after V-E.

Two facts must be kept in mind, according to military leaders.

The first combat troops to hit Western Pacific from Europe will in general be supplied with new weapons and other equipment fresh from the United States because, the Army says, that is the fastest way to get them into action.

Not until many months after V-E will the bulk of the munitions from Europe pile up in the Western Pacific, making it possible to reduce the supply of new stuff from the United States.

James F. Byrnes, the resigned War Mobilization Director, says he "wouldn't be surprised if it took four to five months" to move the leftover supplies from battle areas to European ports, knock them down, repair, recreate and ship them out.

"In the confusion that follows the wake of war," Byrnes says, "the men will move faster."

For that reason, his report (Please Turn To Page Two)

HUGE AUTO FACTORY TO BE IN HAMILTON

HAMILTON, April 6.—(AP)—Postwar construction plans for a multi-million dollar automobile body plant were announced here today by the General Motors Corp., through T. P. Archer, vice president and general manager of GM's Fisher body division.

Deeds covering a 145-acre site along this city's southern limits (at the junction of the old Dixie highway and Symmes Rd.) were filed.

Archer said the plant would provide employment for 3,000 in the production of steel body-stampings and other metal components of GM's postwar automobiles.

WORLD WAR 1 ENTERED BY U.S. 28 YEARS AGO

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Today is the 28th anniversary of the United States' entry into World War 1.

House approval of a war resolution by a 373 to 50 vote a few minutes after 3 o'clock on the morning of April 6, 1917, put the nation into that conflict. The Senate had adopted the resolution the night before by an 82 to 6 vote.

CHAMPAGNE REVOLT!

Germans Scared When Freed 'Slaves' Go on Spree

OFFENBACH, Germany, April 6.—(AP)—Townfolk reported a German military detachment of undetermined size appeared suddenly last night in nearby Hausen with guns blazing.

But Maj. F. E. Sheehan, Portsmouth, Ohio, military government officer, wasn't excited. He dispatched Capt. Andrew Quam, former Fargo, N. D., policeman, and four men. A few hours later, Quam reported the situation in hand.

Four foreign workers from a Displaced Persons Camp, Quam reported, had been foraging Hausen for something to drink—and found plenty. They made so much noise Hausen's burgomeister thought a revolution had broken out. The reported gunfire was the sound of cork-popping champagne bottles.

'Wonder Drug,' Penicillin, May Soon Be in Stores

COLUMBUS, April 6.—(AP)—The "wonder drug," Penicillin, may become plentiful enough before long to appear in capsule, tablet or other forms in your neighborhood drug store, but don't waste your money on it for self-treatment, the State Health Department admonished Ohioans today.

Penicillin has no effect on some diseases, and inadequate doses might make a person more difficult to cure of other ailments later if he treats himself, Health Director Roger E. Heering explained. Too, the drug is too scarce and (Please Turn to Page Eight)

FLEEING NAZIS MAY BE CUT OFF BY SKY TROOPS

British Advance Flanking Hannover -- Russians Put Squeeze on Vienna

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
(By the Associated Press)

U. S. Ninth Army tanks battered five miles east of the Weser River today, possibly to within 18 miles of Hannover, and British armor drove within 25 miles of the strategic Prussian city, now faced with an imminent flanking threat.

A wholly unconfirmed broadcast by DNB, Nazi news agency, suggested that airborne troops had been landed in an area 90 miles from Berlin. This report said Americans had been reinforced in the area of Eisleben, 40 miles beyond last reported U. S. Third Army positions at Schlotheim, 130 miles from Berlin. The Germans said that to the rear of this force light tanks were landed from the air and were fanning out toward Arnstadt, Hamelin and Muehlhausen.

A new and powerful U. S. First Army assault eastward smashed 32 miles beyond the Ruhr pocket, reaching the upper section of the Weser, 10 miles northeast of Kassel, and the historic Hessian Gap, a military gateway once used by Napoleon.

In the Ruhr pocket, resistance suddenly collapsed in Hamm as the Ninth Army entered the great rail yards.

A house-to-house battle opened for Vienna, with Red Army troops firmly entrenched in the southern districts and other columns pressing in from the east and west, threatening to throw a ring of tanks around the capital.

MOTHER BURNS SELF AND THREE CHILDREN

Worry Over Husband's Draft Status Said Cause

DEEP RIVER, Ia., April 6.—(AP)—A 28-year old farm woman, apparently worried over the possible drafting of her husband, fatally burned herself and three children yesterday, Powsheik County Coroner W. R. Phillips said today.

Phillips said Mrs. Elsie Krakow poured gasoline and set fire to her six weeks old baby, Michael, Carol, 2 and Mary Ann, 5, and then ignited her gasoline-soaked clothing.

The tragedy was discovered by the husband and father, Carl Krakow, who was working near the house. Phillips said Krakow related that Mary Ann, her clothing ablaze, ran screaming from the house. "Mother poured oil on us and set us on fire," Mary Ann died about six hours later.

THE WAR TODAY

—By DEWITT MACKENZIE—

Russia's denunciation of her neutrality pact with Japan is a momentous development which justifies the jubilation being expressed among the Allies.

True, this denunciation doesn't necessarily mean the Soviet Union is going to war with Japan. We should have learned by this time that Russia's moves cannot be taken for granted, but that we must wait for Moscow to call the turn. That is, the general public must wait. What Marshal Stalin may have confided to President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Churchill is an unknown quantity.

However, the denunciation does mean the Soviet has cleared decks for possible action. It would be an easy step from this to actual war, especially since the Muscovites charge Japan has been aiding Germany against Russia—a patent truth, as Tokyo and Berlin are comrades at arms.

One very important aspect of the Russian move lies in its undoubtedly good effect on relations among the Big Three. It strengthens the partnership—a particularly happy circumstance in view of the approaching security conference in San Francisco, since that bids fair to produce problems which will call for all the good will that can be mustered.

Another immediate effect will be to make the Mikado's government face the old question of whether crime pays. Russia soon will be free of the European conflict, and if she turns her mighty striking power against Japan, along with that of Britain and the United States, it will be just too bad for the little men of Nippon. Add to this the fact that the official Japanese broadcasts don't even try to conceal the government's fear over the trend of the war, and you have something.

If Tokyo has had any thoughts of seeking peace, this is the hour for the move. There may be significance in the fact that Russia's notification coincided with the fall of warmonger General Koiso's cabinet and the Mikado's designation of Admiral Baron Suzuki to succeed the general.

Glenn Babb, Associated Press foreign news editor who for many years was A. P. chief of bureau in Tokyo, says Suzuki "may be the front man for a Japanese peace offensive." Babb points out that the baron belongs to the liberal group and wasn't identified with the militaristic clique which forced Japan into war against the United States.

The Russian earthquake comes when Japan is rocking from the shock of Uncle Sam's successful landing on big Okinawa Island—an integral part of the Mikado's domains and only 325 miles from the mainland.

The Japs are more than scared. Both their fighting machine and their economic structure are going down hill fast. It would be natural if their thoughts did turn in the direction of peace.

forced odium Nustiv OPopWm The Japanese cannot overlook that the denunciation implies Russia is fully prepared for any eventuality in the Orient. It is unthinkable that Moscow would slap Tokyo down in such positive fashion unless the Soviet war potential in Siberia was in good shape. The Russians have large war industries in that area, and presumably have continued to maintain strong fighting forces.

If Russia comes into the Pacific War, or even if she remains passive but grants America and Britain Siberian bases from which to operate, it will shorten the conflict greatly. No wonder the japs are flying distress signals.

JUST A FRIENDLY CHAT

There never was a time when the need for evangelism was greater than now. The central fact in human history is the fact of Christ. It is the privilege of the Christian to know Him as Savior, Master, Sovereign and the Lord, as the Son of God and the Eternal Friend. Here is the question: with all of our knowledge of church methods, church procedure, Christian duties and successful programs of work, have we also learned to know livingly and intimately the Lord Jesus Christ? One of the most penetrating questions ever asked is the question that echoes down the centuries and should re-echo in our hearts today. It is that our Master, "Have I been so long time with you, and dost thou not know me?" To know Him aright is to possess the life eternal, the dynamic life of eternity, to empower our day-by-day sayings and doings, just here, in the knowledge of Jesus. A straight, sure and simple knowledge of Jesus is the first basic principle for all effective evangelism. "Preach the Word," teach the Word, work the Word, not only in a great revival effort where inspirations reach the peak, but all through the remaining days of each year.

LOWER PRICES ON CLOTHING IN PROSPECT HERE

New Retail Ceiling Price System Explained to County's Merchants

Lower priced clothing is on the way!

That much seemed assured after a meeting of retailers in the Common Pleas court room at the Court House Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Mary Fay Whipple, apparel price specialist, and Kenneth Williams, liaison officer from the district Office of Price Administration in Columbus, explained the new retail ceiling price system for certain classifications of wearing apparel and house furnishings.

The consumer probably won't feel the decrease for some time yet—possibly not until the fall clothes are on the market, ration board officials here explained. The decrease in prices will become apparent when the manufacturer makes lower priced clothes, for then the lower cost to the retailer will be reflected in the selling prices.

As manufacturers produce lower-priced clothing using better quality fabrics, the retailer, who under the new regulations bases his costs and selling prices on the items which he offered for sale on March 19, 1945, will mirror the lower cost to him in the price he puts on his merchandise.

The clothing and furnishings are divided into 110 different categories. All items in the same category having the same cost price will have the same selling price ceiling, it was explained to the retailers. Mrs. Whipple emphasized again and again that the retailer was to consider the cost price and not the nature of the item in determining a selling price.

The new prices will go into effect April 20 when the retailers are to have two copies of the new price chart filed with the OPA and one for their own use. Through these pricing charts the job of figuring ceiling prices is simplified, it was explained.

The definite pricing procedure provided by charts will assure that the lower priced garments growing out of the government's clothing program are fairly priced at retail. It was explained the pricing charts apply to furniture and other household articles also.

GERMAN PRISONERS TO WORK AT MARION

CAMP PERRY, April 6—(P)—Lt. Col. E. C. McCormick, Jr., commander of the German prisoner of war camp here, announced today that prisoners at the Marion Engineer Depot are being consolidated into one main branch camp at the Scioto ordnance works.

A request for prisoner labor at the depot, located in a critical labor shortage area, caused the move, Col. McCormick said. The consolidation will increase to nearly 400 the number of Germans stationed at Marion, the officer said.

Trip to the Moon

Who knows but that the next new territory to fly the American flag may be none of the suggested new air or naval bases scattered around the world, but the moon. The advance in the knowledge of rockets which the war brought has made more feasible the long-proposed sending of a rocket to the moon. Both the United States Rocket Society and the British Interplanetary Society have been working on the problem. Not long ago Willy Ley, a German who has been studying rockets for years, wrote an optimistic book about them. He thought a space ship feasible not now, but eventually, and estimated that a trip to the moon would take 98 hours.

If any nation flies to the moon, Americans would naturally like to be first. The United States Rocket Society, writing to the Interior Department as to how territory on the moon might be claimed for this country, learned that anyone proposing to settle there would come under the jurisdiction of the General Land Office and could acquire title under the Homestead Act.

Things haven't got that far yet, but with the ever increasing knowledge about rockets, it might happen.

Today's World

Every person coming into the world is a combination of his physical heritage, his education and his associations.

"Behind every crime of youth," says Wilbur I. Newstetter of the University of Pittsburgh, "there is inadequacy of parents and society. The world today is a picture of dislocation, distortion and inconsistency, which results in a confused situation for youth when it thinks what the American way of life is supposed to represent. Parents should supply a sense of values and atmosphere in which youth would have the opportunity of developing fully."

This obviously is a gospel more easily preached than practiced. But with the world in such a muddle, this is probably as good a time as there ever was to tackle the job of straightening out the problems of the nation's young people. It is no less important than winning the war. Indeed, it is a large part of the winning of that very thing. And if this war is won not only materially, but morally and mentally, with true understanding of what the victory means, it will be well worth the blood and toil and tears.

Jobs Without Lay-offs

Eric Johnston, in the Satevepost of March 31, comes out in favor of steadier jobs. He does not like the idea of an annual wage imposed by law, but he believes business can do a great deal in the future about eliminating seasonal lay-offs. He does not believe any one plan will fit all cases. He says:

"My hope for the future is that all American businessmen will study ways to eliminate needless layoffs and needless unemployment. I advocate thorough exploration of the innumerable techniques which some employers have successfully applied. In some cases, the approach should be

He approves also government incentives, and speaks of the various state-unemployment-compensation laws which have "incorporated a system of experience rating under which steady employment is rewarded through lower tax rates upon employers."

One of the factors which make Eric Johnston's thinking so sound and appealing to so many people is that he never allows himself to be distracted from his main purpose by arguing with leftists or rightists, or to be held back by mistaken thinking of the past. He takes good things from the left or right side of the road, or both, and goes right down the road with them. He sees the necessity for social gains, but believes government need not step in to ram them down unwilling throats if businessmen will only be smart enough to see the needs and do something about them first.

Taking Over

The signs in Germany seem to point to an almost complete loss of law, order and normal control. The Germans have long been noted as an orderly people, amenable to discipline whether in peace or war. But in the present situation, with their fate so precarious and their government in the hands of reckless leaders, almost anything might happen.

The essential thing now is for the Allied forces of law, order and sanity to break through the outer Nazi defenses, checking the spread of the ancient disease known as "Teutonic Fury" and bringing Central Europe under control.

It is hoped that in this essential duty there will be cooperation from Russia. Without that, the task would be much more difficult.

They don't "burn their bridges behind them" any more. They dynamite 'em.

Sinus Infections and What To Do About Them

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.
Many persons who suffer from sinus infections have the notion that they have an incurable disorder, a chronic condition that can never be overcome. But this idea is false, because sinus infections can be cured.

During the Fall, Winter and early Spring, those who suffer from sinus infections begin to have an increase in the severity of their symptoms.

There are all types of sinus infections. In some instances the condition is an acute one. There are discharge from the nose, fever, headache and pain over the sinuses. There are also the chronic infections in which there is a discharge from the nose with little, if any, fever and not a great deal of pain. The material from the nose may drip into the throat causing a sore throat and coughing.

When a person has a discharge from the nose it is necessary, of course, that an examination be made to determine the source of the trouble. X-rays are helpful in telling when the sinuses are infected. The physician as a rule will want to know the kind of germs which are producing the infection, because then he can decide just what treatment may be best.

For example, the sulfonamide drugs may be used in certain kinds of infection. For acute sinus infections operations are not performed, as a rule. It is in these acute infections that the sulfonamide drugs and penicillin have in recent times been found of great value. In chronic infections operations are more often required. The use of penicillin together with the suitable surgical procedures, offers great hope for permanent cures.

Sinus infections are not without their dangers, unless properly treated, for there are certain complications which may be serious. For example, an infection of the bones of the skull known as osteomyelitis may occur. Then meningitis, or inflammation of the lining membranes over the brain, may develop. An abscess of the brain, an abscess in the eye socket and an infection in a large vein which leads from the nose may occur. Every possible effort must be made to keep these complications from occurring, and that means proper treatment of the sinus infection, so that it does not make too great headway. In advanced cases treatment is more difficult.

Several patients who developed osteomyelitis of the skull, who formerly might have been expected to succumb to the condition, have been cured by penicillin.

Sinus infections should not be feared but they should be respected and not neglected. A physician should be consulted promptly when sinus symptoms first make their appearance and his advice should be conscientiously followed. In this way the dangers of sinus infections may be eliminated.

Tomorrow, Dr. Bundesen will discuss "Rabies."

HELEN COMES HOME

by Watkins E. Wright

CHAPTER THIRTY
PHILIP TURNED the car off the main road and took a dirt road that wound in and out among the trees and the remains of rail fences—fences that had been laid in the long, long ago. He wondered if any where else in the whole wide world was there such peace as to be found around Lakeville. Sometimes it was almost like a religion, that peace; a religion that spoke little, but lived lots.
Helen said: "We'll get some marvelous pictures of the presentation of the letter."
"Who's we?" said Philip.
"Paul and I—from the plane."
"I see. Sometimes I think that guy is the thorn in my flesh."
"I didn't know you had one."
"We all do. And this one of mine often feels more like a long, sharp needle."
"I'm sorry you feel that way about it, Philip."
"So am I," said Philip. "But that is how it is, honey."
Helen stared off into the woods. "Do you know what I think some times?" she asked.
"No. Mind reading isn't in my line."
"I think," Helen went on, "that perhaps if something came along that would jar me into a realization of just what man I really loved, I could come to a decision. Something really big. I mean—downright cataclysmic."
"Isn't a war a cataclysmic enough?" Philip wanted to know.
"Yes. But it hasn't touched our personal lives to any great extent."
"I see. What you mean is something like this: Paul and I are both wounded, we're bleeding to death, and we must both have blood transfusions. We are in different places, and you can get blood to one of us, but not both. And so—"
"Exactly!" said Helen. "Sounds melodramatic, maybe even childish, but, well, that's the way it is, Philip."
Philip laughed, but there wasn't much mirth in it. "Sorry I can't wangle a situation like that, honey," he said. "Only I'd probably die of suspense, waiting for you to decide which one of us it was you wanted to live."
"Please don't poke fun at me," Helen said quietly. "I'm unhappy about it as it is."
"I'm not poking fun," said Philip. "It's nothing to joke about."
And when Helen again had no reply, he felt a sudden sense of loneliness creeping over him. It was hard to explain, that feeling of loneliness, but it was there just the same. Maybe it came because he was always a little afraid that sooner or later he would lose the girl there beside him, and all that she meant to him. Maybe he was counting upon her too much, letting himself dream and hope far beyond the point of reason. But after all, when a man dreamed and hoped, he

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(P)—Harold Smith, who has budgeted more billions of spending than any man in history, may become the new federal loan administrator.

Officials high in the government are backing him for the job which Fred M. Vinson vacated to become director of war mobilization and reconversion, succeeding James F. Byrnes.

Supporters of Smith pointed to these qualifications for their man: For six years as budget director he has culled over all government plans for spending hundreds of billions of dollars.

Dinner - Bridge Fetes Bride On Thursday

Mrs. Loren Noble and Mrs. Wallace Noon entertained with a dinner-bridge, Thursday evening, honoring Mrs. Ralph W. Hyer, the former Betty Hard, on her February eighth marriage.

Dinner was served at seven o'clock at the dining room table which was centered with a mass of sweet pea nosegays. Each guest was presented with a nosegay and placecard favors marked each of the twelve covers. An appetizingly prepared three course dinner was hospitably served by the co-hostesses who ably performed the duties of perfect hostesses.

Several tables of bridge were at play for the remainder of the evening, and bridge prizes were awarded to Mrs. Keith Garinger and Mrs. Gene Hard. Mrs. Emery Lynch was presented a hearts prize.

Mrs. Hyer was showered by her friends with a lovely assortment of bridal gifts, and at the conclusion of the evening's festivities was presented a gift by her co-hostesses. Her response was most gratifying.

Those present were Mrs. Emery Lynch, Mrs. Paul Thompson, Miss Kay Wilson, Mrs. Gene Hard, Mrs. Paul Schorr, Mrs. Donald Lange, Miss Ann Patton, Mrs. Keith Garinger, Mrs. Gene Travis, the honor guest, Mrs. Ralph Hyer, and the two hostesses, Mrs. Noon and Mrs. Noble.

Four Hostesses Make Luncheon Enjoyable Affair

Mrs. Ormond Dewey, Mrs. Edgar Snyder, Mrs. J. H. Persinger and Mrs. L. M. Hayes were the capable committee who performed the many and exacting duties of hostess for the fortnightly luncheon-bridge at the Country Club, Thursday afternoon.

Three guests, Mrs. R. M. Costello of Dayton, Mrs. Morrison Ball of Cincinnati and Mrs. Harry Short of this city, were included with the members when a one o'clock luncheon was served. One long table and several small tables seated the forty-four persons attending who were attired in pastel-shaded spring ensembles.

Centering the handsomely appointed luncheon tables were bowls of jonquills while the large fireplace mantelpiece was bedecked with potted azaleas, hyacinths and greenery. Especially noted was a copper bowl filled with redbud and greenery which was placed in the alcove of the club lounge.

During the afternoon that followed, eleven tables of guests played bridge, at the conclusion of which three attractively wrapped gifts were presented as prizes. Those winning these were Mrs. A. S. Stiemler and Mrs. J. J. Kelley and Mrs. R. M. Costello of Dayton tied for second prizes.

Analysis of British, Russian Points of View Regarding Atlantic Charter Disagreement

The Fayette County League of Women Voters is indebted to the National League, with headquarters at Washington D. C., for the following study of international affairs which some members of the league here call an analysis of the British and Russian points of view, but which Mrs. Jean S. Nisley, local president, chooses to call—

Conversational Stumbling Blocks
In the course of your conversations about the United Nations, you are certain to find people who want the U. S. to cooperate with other countries to prevent the next war but who don't see how we can "trust" England—or Russia—or France. The recent disagreement between the great powers over policies in Poland and Greece has called forth a great wave of anti-British and anti-Russian feeling, and the claim that these countries have betrayed the Atlantic Charter is often heard.

American membership in the proposed United Nations Organization will be harder to achieve if there is a widespread public belief that Britain or Russia have deserted the principles of the Atlantic Charter. These countries do not consider that their actions in Poland or the Balkans are a breach of faith with the charter. Peoples of different nations look at the same problems from such different angles that a common viewpoint is hard to obtain. We cannot hope always to see eye to eye with our allies but it will help make it possible for us to attain a meeting ground for common action if we make a conscious effort to understand their viewpoint.

What Is the Russian Viewpoint?
Under the Atlantic Charter, Russia and the other United Nations subscribing, agree to "seek no aggrandizement, territorial or other." Russia does not consider that the territorial claims it has made are in any way a taking by force of foreign soil. The Baltic countries and Bessarabia are considered as just a part of Russia, stripped from her by force in 1918. Now that Russia herself has retaken them, she believes it a simple act of justice for her allies to recognize her right to pre-1918 boundaries. Except for Lithuania, which had been part of Russia since 1700, none of these countries had had independence before 1918. Poland does have a history of former independence and Russia concedes her right to self-government, but considers the boundary as debatable. Russia feels she is being offered Poland a settlement based on the Curzon line. This line was not set up by the Soviet government but at Versailles in 1919. It is considered to offer the nearest approach to a fair settlement in agreement with the principles of self determination in a region of such confused nationalities.

The Russians fear capitalism as much as the western democracies fear communism. Nations, like elephants, have long memories and Russia has not forgotten that her present allies used their armed forces to aid the white armie in the 1918 civil war; that food and relief were used as a political weapon against Bolshevism after the last war; and that Russia was the only country to be expelled from the League of Nations, though Japan and Italy certainly committed earlier and greater aggressions. These past Russian experiences offer some explanation of Russia's secretiveness in sharing military information with her allies; her lack of cooperation with U.N.R.-R.A.; her feeling the need of a veto power in the voting procedure of the proposed Dumbarton Oaks Security Council.

Evidence of good faith on the part of Russia is found in wanting to work out an international order based on cooperation, and in the unwavering backing which Litvinov gave to principles of collective security in the League of Nations long after the western democracies had deserted these principles; Russia's willingness to take part in formulating the Dumbarton Oaks proposals; her recognition of the combined interest of the allies in joint negotiation of armistice terms with Rumania and Bulgaria.

What Is the British Viewpoint?
The recent statement in the London Economist that it was time for Churchill to stop appeasing America was a new idea to many Americans. Looking at the international scene from the British side of the Atlantic we find that they feel they went along with our policy in Argentina in spite of their conflicting interests; that they followed our lead to their detriment in deferring recognition of DeGaulle; and that our policy also predominated in the decision to take the offensive in the Philippines while Europe remained half liberated.

The British resent the accusation that they have betrayed the Atlantic Charter and reverted to power politics by carving out a sphere of influence in Greece. They believe that military necessity required Britain's acting in Greece, while to Russia fell the primary responsibility for Rumania and Bulgaria. America herself was not prepared to assume a dominant role in the Balkan campaign; Britain was. The British feel that American public opinion does not understand the deep-seated revolutionary character of the situation in the Balkans, or the difficulties of making wise decisions when lives are at stake and therefore, military expediency must often take precedence over more idealistic motives.

ROSALIND RUSSELL, brilliant comedy star of Warner Bros. "Roughly Speaking," coming to the Fayette, plays a role certain to warm the heart of even the most vehement critics of American womanhood. As Louise, lovable mother of the wild Pierson clan, she hews her way unwaveringly through a fabulous series of breaks and misfortunes. Co-starred with Miss Russell is Jack Carson, who plays the role of her second husband. "Roughly Speaking" at the Fayette Theatre, Sunday and Monday, April 8, 9.

The British do not feel that the preservation of the Empire conflicts with the United Nations' aims for the establishment of an international and cooperative security system. They regard the Empire as the most successful demonstration of international cooperation to date, and do not feel that its dissolution would contribute to world peace, or simplify the problem of building a world security system. They point out that five dominions are completely self-governing and that their membership in the British Commonwealth is entirely voluntary. Many other sections of the Empire are in various stages of self-government and their eventual self-government is felt to be assured.

Changing American Viewpoints
Americans constantly overlook the fact that advice entails responsibility. We want the British to do things our way; we criticize the way the Russians act. But are we prepared to help make the necessary decisions and take the necessary action ourselves? Are we, the United States, willing to become a member of a United Nations Council at once, to solve these problems? Without a council and without the United States acting together with Britain in Greece, what right have we to object to the decisions Britain is forced to make alone?

And are we being completely realistic in our insistence on the principles of the Atlantic Charter? If a problem cannot be solved according to the letter of the Charter, shall we leave it unsolved?

It is impossible to attach a completely literal meaning to such principles in the Atlantic Charter as the right of self-determination for all people. These rights and privileges are not absolute, but are subject to modification by the need for obtaining the greatest good for the greatest numbers.

Blue Lions To Meet Wilmington In Season's First Track Meet Here

The Blue Lion track team will have its first chance to try its mettle next Friday when the squad travels to Wilmington for the first meet of the season.

While no details as to what events will be on the card have been announced, the team is working out on hurdles, running, jumping, relays, shot put and pole vault in daily practices, Stephen C. Brown, high school principal, said.

The entire season, with six meets scheduled so far, will work to a May 18 climax when the district track meet is slated at Delaware. The boys who place first and second in the district meet are eligible to participate in the state meet May 25 and 26 and J. R. Brammer, the coach, is working out his squad with an eye for some entries in that.

The 25 boys who have been working out to prepare for the Friday meet and the others slated for this season are: Roger Grimm, Robert Bostwick, William Andrews, Dick Andrews, Alvin Bailey, George Hall, Har-

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, April 6.—(P)—A Texas sports scribe suggests it would be smart and profitable for the major leagues to sponsor a high school baseball tournament in each state every year.

The big leagues, he says, could underwrite the expenses for, say, eight regional winners to journey to the state finals and could put up suitable trophies. They could have scouts and instructors at each meet and possibly pick up prospects. Otherwise school authorities would run the show.

Red Trautman can tell you it isn't as easy as that. The American Association head, chairman of baseball's high school committee, has acquired more than one headache trying to help school ball.

The schools, it seems, are a bit touchy about the eligibility of their boys and the possibility that pro teams will grab the kids before they finish their education.

Only the Giants Have Team Intact

LAKEWOOD, N. J., April 6.—(P)—The New York Giants finished fifth in the National League last year, 28 games back of the pennant-winning Cardinals, but they'll be the only team in the loop to break from the barrier on April 17 with their 1944 regular lineup intact.

There is one little "if" to the above statement but Manager Mel Ott is not unduly worried. The "if" is Joe Medwick, whose sprained knee started acting up again a couple of days ago. The veteran left fielder was shipped off to New York for treatment with instructions to stay as long as necessary.

Reds Beaten By Pitchers Loaned Cubs

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK, April 6.—(P)—Deacon Bill McKechnie found out the hard way he could count on two 41-year-old pitching veterans, Hod Lisenbee and Guy Bush, to help his Cincinnati mound staff.

The Deacon loaned the pair of oldsters to Chicago's Cubs yesterday for an exhibition and they shut out the Reds, 5-0, scattering seven hits in a seven-inning contest.

It was noted without any display of feeling by McKechnie that Player Chucho Ramos of Venezuela has stated he does not intend to return to his native country.

Formosa continued. Many parked planes were destroyed.

In the Philippines, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces on Southern Luzon cut the Japanese escape route to the East Coast from the shores of Laguna de Bay. On Negros, 40th Division Troops pushed to the Imbang River north of captured Silay against "considerable resistance," front dispatches said.

vaded tiny Yabuchi islands off the East Coast.

The Marines were finding only scattered resistance. If the Japanese had chosen to stand on the neck of Ishikawa Isthmus they could have made the Americans fight on short lines, but the Yanks drove beyond that stretch of ground into the town of Kin.

Japanese planes today made their heaviest air assault on American invasion ships since soldiers and Marines of the 10th Army went ashore on Okinawa April 1.

Increasing attacks started this morning and ranged from heavy to light into the late afternoon.

Ragged, untrained Okinawa home guardsmen, wielding "idiot sticks," bayonets or knives on ends of poles, have made several attacks on Marine positions, Maj. Gen. Roy S. Geiger reported today.

"All they are accomplishing," Geiger said, "is to get into the next world quicker, if that's what they want. They have no spirit and could do nothing with such weapons even if they had."

In five days the Yanks have overrun more than 100 square miles, about one-fifth of Okinawa.

Admiral Nimitz reported that anti-aircraft guns and fighters destroyed 65 Japanese planes out of air fleets raiding American shipping and ground positions in the first five days.

Enemy submarines were active. One torpedo missed a transport ship and exploded on a reef.

Nearly 50 Philippines-based heavy bombers with fighter escort spanned the South China Sea for the second straight day to deliver the heaviest attack of the war on Hong Kong Tuesday, headquarters reported today.

The harbor and waterfront area of the former British crown colony, 800 miles northwest of Manila, absorbed 168 tons of bombs. Nine Japanese ships including a 7,000-tonner, were sunk; a destroyer and two other merchantmen were damaged.

In addition, six small freighters were sunk in the China Sea.

Hong Kong's shore installations, hard hit the preceding day, received further damage. Burning oil storage tanks sent smoke columns 7,000 feet high.

Enemy fighter planes were driven off by Fifth Air Force fighters after a running fight.

All the attacking planes returned.

across the Weser in full fury.

Meanwhile, while eastward driving columns plunged to within 164 miles of Berlin, other tanks and infantry of the U. S. First smashed into the Ruhr trap westward on a 70-mile front. At the same time the U. S. Ninth caved in the roof of the pocket, where possibly 150,000 Nazis are ripe for annihilation, capturing a town four miles north of Dortmund.

Fierce fighting was reported at Hamm, pivotal rail center.

A force of about 650 U. S. heavy bombers and more than 600 fighters battered German railroads at Halle and Leipzig, two main traffic centers on the link-up routes for American and Russian armies.

The main rail station at Leipzig, prime objective of the U. S. Third Army drive, was a target in this fourth straight daylight assault on the Reich. Bad weather grounded RAF planes last night, after a day in which more than 2,000 Allied planes hammered Germany.

Advance in Italy

U. S. Fifth Army troops in Italy, attacking through the mountains near the west coast, have gained up to two miles in a swift drive north of Azzano which opened yesterday. The Germans met the assault with strong mortar fire, and threw a strong counterattack against U. S. elements at Stretto. Still another American lunge began, the Germans said, after a heavy artillery barrage of several hours last night.

Supreme headquarters reports lagged a full 24 hours behind Allied armor racing down the last flatland main road toward Bremen and battering toward strategic Hannover. Headquarters reports placed the Americans, who crossed the Weser south of Hamelein, and were 20 miles or less from Hannover. The attacks in the meanwhile may have carried all the way to Bremen and Hannover.

The British Second and U. S. Ninth armies joined east of the Weser, amid indications of a headlong German flight toward Berlin, 50 miles from the capital and 100 from Russian lines.

To the south the U. S. Third Army's tanks cleared Meiningen, previously by-passed, 23 miles southwest of Gotha, and reached positions 23 miles southeast of Gotha and 58 miles from the Czechoslovak border. The Sixth Armored Division was 130 miles from Berlin at last reports, near Schlotheim.

Canadians Near Arnheim

On the northern end of the front Canadian First Army troops sent patrols across the Neder Rhine east and west of the Dutch city of Arnheim. The Allied-controlled Dutch radio said Arnheim was entered without opposition.

In the south the American Seventh Army continued its drive toward Neumberg and the French First Army menaced Stuttgart from positions beyond Karlsruhe.

The German radio, commenting on Gen. Eisenhower's prediction of guerrilla warfare, said it was a tribute to German arms and called for an "uncompromising fight to the very last."

The Germans laid down a heavy curtain of mortar fire as Soviet storm troops surged into Vienna's outskirts. Two Russian armies, deploying along an 83-mile siege arc, were within 46 miles of Tulln on the Danube, 10 miles north-west of the capital. Capture of Tulln would sever all Vienna's westward communications. Two of Vienna's vital supply arteries to Italy and Czechoslovakia already have been cut.

By means of "portable port," coded as Mulberries, more than 2,500,000 men were put ashore during the first 109 days of the European invasion. Over 17,000,000 ship tons of material reached shore during the same time.

SCHOOL PUPILS DISTRIBUTING BOND PLEDGES

Seventh War Loan Individual Quota for Fayette County Is $749,000

Fayette County's school children today began the distribution of War Bond pledge-purchase forms to every home in the county in preparation for the Seventh War Loan Drive, for which the individual quota in Fayette County has been set at $749,000, Carroll Halliday, War Finance Committee chairman, said today.

Answering Governor Frank J. Lausche's call on faculty members of Ohio schools to "use every influence at your command to the end that the leaders and students of our schools may once again distinguish themselves just as our sons have in this and in all previous struggles for the preservation of freedom and right," 4,000 pledge cards were given to principals of city and county schools at a meeting in the office of W. J. Hilly, superintendent of county schools, Wednesday night.

The principals in turn distributed the cards to their students who are asked to give the cards to their parents and neighbors for signing and return to the War Finance Committee within a week, Halliday said. The 4,000 cards already distributed will be swelled by 2,000 more now on order.

When the pledge cards have been filled in and filed, solicitors in the Seventh War Loan will know on whom to call to sell bonds, Halliday explained. He said a complete coverage of the city and county was expected through the efforts of the school children. The Seventh War Loan begins officially May 14.

MAN FROM HERE IS COMMENDED

Pfc. Donald Schwaigert Cited For Action Under Fire

To Pfc. Donald F. Schwaigert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schwaigert of Madison Mills, went a commendation from his commanding officer after less than two months of overseas duty, it was learned today.

Pfc. Schwaigert, the husband of Mrs. Mary Jean (Gage) Schwaigert, has been in service for two years and has been overseas since February. Now 21 years old, he was employed at the Ranco war plant in Columbus before entering the service. He attended Madison Mills High School.

With the 607th field artillery battalion, the commendation he received from Lt. Col. George E. Dooley reads:

1. On 12 March 1945 a 105 millimeter howitzer projectile burst prematurely approximately five yards above number one section of battery A of this organization thereby endangering the lives of personnel in that and adjacent sections. Two enlisted men of Battery A were seriously wounded, one severely enough to require medical aid of highly technical nature.

2. It is my privilege to state that you while serving in capacity of aid man for battery C of this organization, heard the summons for medical attention and dispatched yourself at greatest possible speed to the scene of trouble to render assistance to the limit of your facilities. The cool and collected manner in which you surveyed the required assistance and rendered that assistance promptly and upon your own initiative reflects superbly upon yourself and your organization.

3. I take great pride in commending you for your action on 12 March and am confident that you may be counted on to repeat your performances should the occasion arise.

County Courts

MANDAMUS ACTION

A mandamus action has been filed in Common Pleas Court by Mrs. Helen McCoy and Mrs. Ruth Michael, deputies in the county treasurer's office, to compel County Auditor Ulic Acton to issue warrants for monthly salaries named for them by County Treasurer McCoy beginning last February. Mrs. McCoy had been receiving $135 per month and Mrs. Michael $120. Both were raised to $145 per month and another clerk was hired on a part time basis when Miss Marie King, a deputy in the treasurer's office resigned to accept a position in the office of Gov. Lausche at Columbus.

The petition filed for the two plaintiffs by their attorney, Troy Junk, asserts that the new amounts to be paid were certified to the county auditor by the county treasurer but payment of the increased salaries was refused. County Auditor Acton states that he is following the instructions of the county commissioners and the county prosecutor who are reported to take the position that increases for individual clerical help in county office should have the approval of the county commissioners.

County Treasurer contends that the appropriation originally made for employees in his office was to cover three persons and that he has the right to change those amounts for individual employees so long as there is no increase in the total amount paid for his help beyond the sum appropriated for the purpose, and that the total amount paid for his help in this instance is less than previously.

SENTENCED TO WORKHOUSE Charles Lewis who appeared before Probate Judge Rell G. Allen, Thursday, was fined $250 and given six months in the workhouse for a non-support of six minor children. Lewis had been brought before Judge Allen once before and promised to make certain monthly payments; but is alleged to have violated his promise.

SECOND WILL FOUND

Charles H. Allen was named executor of the estate of Myrtle Allen Everhart, deceased, following filing of the will and its probate in probate court Thursday.

A strange incident in connection with this case was that this is the second will of the deceased, filed and executed in this court by reason of this last will filed Thursday having been discovered in the files of a local attorney. It was dated later than the previous will filed.

POLICEMEN HERE START BENEFIT FUND WITH SHOW

Administration of Money Is Set Up Thursday Afternoon

The foundations of a permanent Police Benefit Fund were laid here Thursday afternoon when the police force here named Valden Long, police chief, chairman of the benefit fund, set up by-laws and started work on the carnival which the police will sponsor July 2 to July 7 at the old fairgrounds.

Long explained the fund would be a permanent one and emphasized it was not to be confused with the policemen's pension fund. The money will be used by the police as they see fit—contributions to the Red Cross and other charities and the possible outfitting of the eight man police force with identical uniforms were listed as uses to which the money may be put.

Captain Jess Ellis was named secretary-treasurer of the fund and Robert C. Palmer, Walter Marshall and Harley Haggard were named auditors. Other men on the force will plan an important part when it comes to voting on expenditures. They are Clifford Underwood, Elmer Kelley and Harmon Welty.

The carnival profits will form the nucleus of the fund which will be added to from year to year. Geren's United Shows, which have appeared here before, will be featured in the carnival.

Besides offering the carnival "good, clean entertainment," according to Long, the force will print 1000 souvenir programs including pictures of the city building, the police force and Walter L. Stambaugh, city manager.

WONDER DRUG, PENICILLIN MAY SOON BE IN STORES BUT IT HAS LIMITATIONS

too useful to be wasted, he added. Penicillin has been in use about two years, largely by the military. It soon may be plentiful enough for sale to the public in the form of nose drops, throat sprays, lozenges and ointments, as well as in tablet form, he said.

The drug has no apparent effect on infantile paralysis, tuberculosis, rabbit fever or typhoid, he pointed out.

Penicillin has been found most effective, Dr. Heering said, in treating such diseases as meningitis, syphilis, gonorrhea, certain types of pneumonia and blood poisoning.

Dosages of penicillin insufficient to cure a sinus infection, for example, might create a resistance to the drug so that it would not be effective later in treating that person for meningitis should an extension of that disease from the sinus take place, Dr. Heering explained.

FAST TIME SET FOR CURFEWS IN WASHINGTON C. H.

WMC Directive Settles Issue Bothering Proprietors of Establishments

The question of whether the midnight curfew means midnight at fast time or midnight at slow time was settled here today.

Walter L. Stambaugh, the city manager, said a directive from K. F. Ermlich, area director of the War Manpower Commission, said the midnight curfew meant whatever time was set by local statute or ordinance—and for Washington C. H. that means fast time.

Ward C. Miller, deputy director of the WMC at the USES office here, turned the directive over to Stambaugh. The establishments in the city which must close at midnight fast time include amusement parks, bars, billiard and pool establishments, bowling alleys, carnivals, circuses, coin operated amusement device parlors, dance halls, dance studios and dancing "schools," gambling establishments, skating rinks, night clubs, road houses, saloons, shooting galleries, sport arenas, theaters, and entertainment activities of yacht, country and other clubs including school, fraternal or other "parties" in hotels, schools, or in any hall or establishment open for hire. The list was included with the WMC directive.

Liquor and beer is defined to include all alcoholic beverages without regard to the amount of alcohol by weight or volume thus "32" beer is included under the order, it was explained.

Stambaugh said proprietors of establishments under the curfew had been uncertain as to what kind of time the curfew means and said he hoped the directive would clear up any doubts.

ARMED ROBBERY REPORT STARTS INVESTIGATION

Salesman Tells Police He Lost $43 and Ring in Main Street Holdup

Police here Thursday night were unable to locate a man who Rex O. Bost, insurance salesman from Hamilton, said robbed him of $43 and an Eagle ring at the point of a gun. Police Chief Valden Long said, as officers pressed their investigation Friday.

Long said the police were called about 10:50 P.M. from the Washington Hotel where Bost was staying. Bost told police he had parked a short distance from the hotel and was walking to it when a man whom he described as tall and about 37 years old pulled him into the alley, took his wallet, took the money and his ring and then threw the wallet away. Long said, Bost said he would not recognize the man again, however, the chief said.

After a check of all hotels and a thorough search, Long said the police found no trace of an armed thief. He said the Thursday night call was the first alarm on armed robbery here for "a long time."
